ARTANE AND DONNYCARNEY.

ARTANE, a village and parish in Coolock barony, Dublin county, three miles N. from the General Post Office, Dublin, comprising an area of 954 acres. Population, 457. The village is on the road to Malahide. The parish, anciently called Tartaine, for centuries formed part of the estate of the Hollywood family, and the castle of Artane likewise belonged to that of the Donnellans, where it is said Archbishop Allen, in 1533, was murdered for his dislike to the Geraldines. The ruins were taken down in 1825, and on its site the present Artane Castle was erected. This residence is now in possession of the Christian Brothers, who have expended a large sum of money in enlarging the building, and wherein are the Industrial Schools, which are capable of containing 700 children.

BALBRIGGAN.

BALBRIGGAN, a maritime town in Balrothery parish, Balrothery east barony, county of Dublin, 22 miles N. by E. from Dublin, comprising an area of 180 acres. Population, 2,443, inhabiting 500 houses. It is situate on the eastern coast, and on the Great Northern railway, of which it is a station. It owes its origin to the late Baron Hamilton, who, in 1780, raised it from a small fishing village to a town of some manufacturing if not commercial importance, by the introduction of the cotton manufactures, for which he erected two large factories, and contributed largely by the erection of a pier for the improvement of the harbour. The public buildings are, the Church or Chapelry of St. George, with a square embattled tower, a Roman Catholic Chapel, Convent and Schools, a Young Men's Christian Association Hall, the Sessions' Court House, and Market House. It has a Dispensary and a Parochial School. Quarter and Petty Sessions are held here, the latter on every alternate Tuesday. It is the station of the County Inspector of the Royal Irish Constabulary of the county, and at the Martello Tower on the Strand there is a Coast-guard Station. In the town there is a salt works and a linen factory, also an underwear manufactory. The manufacture of fine stockings, well known for the last century as "Balbriggan hosiery," is carried on extensively. The commerce of Balbriggan is chiefly in the coasting trade, and in the import of coals and salt. The inner harbour is formed by a pier 420 feet in length, with a curve of 105 feet, extending westerly, in which there are 14 feet water at full tide. At the end of the pier there is a Lighthouse, 35 feet above high water; it is a fixed light, and can be seen 10 miles in clear weather. The Great Northern railway crosses the harbour by a noble viaduct of 11 arches, 30 feet span, and 35 feet high, on one side of which there is a metal flooring, resting on the piers, forming a handsome promenade for the use of the inhabitants. There are now salt water baths carried on by a limited company. The fairs are held every month in the year, exact dates not fixed; markets every Monday.

BALDOYLE.

BALDOYLE, a maritime parish and village in Coolock barony, Dublin county; 7 miles N.E. from Dublin, comprising an area of 1,236 acres, of which 27 are in the village. Population of parish, 1,131; of village, 602 inhabiting 222 houses. It is situated upon a small creek of the Irish sea to the north of the isthmus that connects the promontory of Howth with the mainland, and close to the line of the Great Northern Railway, of which it is a station. In 1369 Sir William De Windsor, the then Lord Deputy, is said to have convened a Parliament here for the purpose of levying subsidies. The only public building is the Roman Catholic Chapel, a handsome structure with a portico of four Tuscan pillars, above which is a turret supporting a dome and cross. It has a Dispensary, Parochial and National Schools for children, and is a Constabulary Police and Coast-guard Station. The creek is only fit for fishing wherries and boats, of which several belong to the place. In summer it is much frequented by sea bathers for its fine smooth beach.

BALL'S-BRIDGE AND BEGGAR'S-BUSH (PEMBROKE TOWNSHIP).

BALL'S-BRIDGE, a village in St. Mary's, Donnybrook, parish, Dublin barony and county, two miles S.E. from the General Post Office, Dublin. It is situate on the road to Kingstown and Bray, and takes its name from a bridge which here crosses the Dodder, erected in 1791, and rebuilt in 1835. In the approach to it, on the right of the road, where many neat villas now stand, is the site of Baggot-Rath castle, occupied by the forces of the Marquess of Ormonde, in 1649, and stormed and taken by Cromwell in 1651. The Church, St. Mary's, is situate at Simmonscourt, Donnybrook. The new Church of St. Bartholomew, erected from the designs of T. H. Wyatt, esq., at a cost of about £6,000, is situated at the junction of Elgin-road and Clyde-road, near Ball's-bridge. The parochial district assigned to it includes that part of Pembroke township which lies between Wellington-road and the River Dodder, and between the Dublin and Kingstown Railway and the Donnybrook-road. The botanic garden of the University is in the vicinity. It is within the G.P.O. delivery; and there is a Post Office receiver and Money Order office and Postal Telegraph office at Shelbourne-road, Ball's Bridge. The Pembroke Township includes Baggotrath, Donnybrook, Irishtown, Merrion, Ringsend and Sandymount, and contains an area of 1,592 acres or about 2½ square miles. Population in 1901, 25,524. The valuation of the Township in 1900 was £106,893. The electric tram cars pass to and from Dublin every few minutes.

BLACKROCK (URBAN DISTRICT).

THIS Township was formed by the Blackrock Township Act of 1863, and embraces Blackrock, Monkstown, Williamstown, Booterstown, etc. The Township has a Town Hall, a branch of the Ulster Bank, several Protestant Episcopal and Roman Catholic Churches, a Methodist Chapel, a Dominican Convent, a Carmelite Nunnery, the St. Mary's Industrial School, the Meath Industrial School, the French College, and several National Schools, and a Presbyterian Church; it has also a branch of the Rathdown Dispensary, and two Police Stations. There are commodious swimming Baths, and also hot and cold sea-water Baths at Seapoint. Recently a new system of Main Drainage has been laid down, by which the sewage is conveyed to a large tank at Dunleary, and discharged at the ebb of each tide into 25 feet of water at a distance of about 1,100 yards from the foreshore; other great improvements have been carried out in the Township, such as the erection of Artisans' Dwellings of the most improved sanitary construction, the concreting of all the principal thoroughfares, the widening of the main streets, etc. During the last year several handsome shops have been erected in the town of Blackrock. The Township possesses a Public Park containing 14 acres, including ornamental Lakes, and a Public Library and Reading Room. The area of the township is 1,078 statute acres, and it contains 21 miles of roads; the rateable valuation of property for taxation being £48,155. Population in 1901 was 8,759. A system of Electric Trams has been established which arrive and start for Dublin and also for Dalkey every 5 minutes. All the express trains on the D. W. & W. Railway stop at Blackrock Station. There is a Postal Telegraph at the Post Office, 36 Main-street, also three Post Offices within the Township, and a Public Telephone.

BRAY.

BRAY, a maritime town in the barony of Rathdown, thirteen miles S.E. from the General Post Office, Dublin, in county Wicklow. It has been properly designated as "The Irish Brighton." The Dargle river passes through the town, and is crossed by a large granite bridge; the river was formerly the boundary of the counties of Dublin and Wicklow, but after the passing of the Local Government (Ireland) Act, 1898, Little Bray, or the county of Dublin portion of Town, was added to the county of Wicklow. Little Bray remains in co. Dublin for Parliamentary purposes only. In 1173 the manor was granted by the Earl of Pembroke, then Lord Deputy, to Walter de Riddlesford, one of the early Norman adventurers. In 1215 the Abbot of the Monastery of St. Thomas, near Dublin, obtained it at a rent of three, and a fine of 60 marks. In these as well as in subsequent times, it was frequently assailed by the mountain septs of the O'Byrnes and O'Tooles. In 1316 they destroyed the castle, but were defeated on the same day by an English force under Edmund Le Boteler. In 1402 it was the scene of a great battle between the before-named septs and the citizens of Dublin, headed by John Drake, their Provost. At the dissolution of religious houses the manor, among other lands of the Abbey of St. Thomas, was granted to Sir Thomas Brabazon, an ancestor of the Earl of Meath, who enjoys in fee at the present time part of the town. The population of the parish in 1851 was 3,156; in 1891 the population of town (which forms less than half the parish) was 6,888, 1901, 7,424, which more than doubles in sum ner time. In 1857 the valuation of the township was £3,531 15s., income £194 18s. 8d., and expenditure £179; in 1893, valuation £27,496 15s., income £8,498 3s. 3d., expenditure £7,625 19s. 4d.; in 1896, valuation £28,412 10s. In 1903 the valuation of the township was £30,939 2s., and the Municipal Income, including Harbour and Electric Department revenues, amounted to £25,296 19s. 4d. Expenditure, £24,413 1s. 10d.

Various improvements have been made, through the enterprise of the late Mr. Dargan, by whom the sea-beach from the mouth of Bray River up to Bray Head was levelled, a good road formed along it, and a broad esplanade fenced off and laid down in grass, forming a most pleasurable promenade of about a mile at the very verge of the sea—an invaluable gift to the residents and visitors at Bray. Along the face of the sea the Town Council have since erected a grand Marine Promenade about one mile in length at a cost of £25,000. The Council have also built a commodious Harbour at a cost of £45,000. The town is lighted by electricity; the electrical light works, which cost over £20,000, are now the property of the Urban District Council, the first section of which was opened by His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant (Earl Carnarvon) in September, 1885. The second and third sections have since been completed; also baths and other public works. The late Lord Herbert, who had considerable property here, has also effected great improvements, having made a new road from the town towards Powerscourt, and given a site and otherwise contributed to the erection of the new Church. The late Earl of Pembroke and Montgomery, who owned a considerable portion of the town, has also effected improvements, and gave a free site for the new Roman Catholic Church now in course of erection. Several magnificent residences were constructed near the Esplanade by the late Right Hon. Alderman Joseph Meade, P.C. J.P. LL.D. ex-Lord Mayor of Dublin, which add considerably to the appearance of the district. Along the shore several ranges of houses, overlooking the esplanade and the sea, have been erected. There are seven well appointed hotels—the Station Hotel (formerly Breslin's Royal Marine Hotel), the Grand International Hotel, Lacy's Hotel, the Strand Hotel, the Royal (formerly Quin's), the Esplanade Hotel, also the Bray Head Hotel, famed for its beautiful situation.

The old Parish Church, now St. Paul's Chapel of Ease, stands on the high ground, near the bridge. The new Parish Church is in the upper outskirts of the town. There are also two Roman Catholic Churches, a Presbyterian Church, a Methodist Chapel, and a Cripples' Home, and the Convalescent Home of the Meath Hospital have been opened, National Schools, and private schools; Town Hall Assembly Rooms, Banks, Post Offices, and Savings Banks; a Dispensary; a Court-house, standing on an eminence overlooking the river; a Constabulary Station; the Meath Industrial School, Loretto Convent, and Sister of Charity Convent, and a Coast-guard Station over the beach. The large and commodious Railway Station is also a prominent and important object, beautifully situated near the beach, the railway being carried along the sea-side. The public roads of the township, principal establishments, and private residences are lighted by electricity. The chief trade consists in the sale or export of timber and grain, and the importation of coal, slate, and limestone, in which several crafts are engaged, and for which a new and commodious harbour is constructed.

The town possesses great facilities of communication. The two lines of railway from Dublin (the inland line, from Harcourt-street, passing Ranelagh, Dundrum, Stillorgan, Carrickmines, and other stations; and the coast line, from Westland-row, through Kingstown and Dalkey), which runs on to Wicklow, through the Vale of Avoca, to Gorey, Enniscorthy, Wexford, and New Ross. There are public conveyances to Enniskerry and Roundwood plying constantly from the railway stations, the fares being regulated by local authority.

The town is surrounded by scenery of much beauty and grandeur. Open on one side to the sea, bounded to the south by the noble promontory of Bray Head, and more inland by the Sugar Loaf Mountains, overlooking the Valley of Diamonds, and a variety of hill and dale, the beautiful sands of Killiney Bay and Dalkey Sound and Island, the panorama backed in the distance towards the north and west by the Dublin Mountains, Bray possesses natural advantages which, with the improvements that have been effected and are in progress at and around the neighbourhood, show that it is destined to be, as it is rapidly becoming, one of the most attractive places of residence and resort within daily reach of the metropolis, and the chief watering place of Ireland. The Grand International Hotel, which is close to the station, was built by Mr. Brennan in 1862, at a cost of £24,000, and is one of the finest hotels in Ireland. The Royal Marine Hotel was recently purchased by the Dublin, Wicklow and Wexford Railway, who re-modelled and re-named it Station Hotel. It is now replete with all modern improvements and lighted by electricity.

Quarter Sessions, Petty Sessions, and Township Courts are held here—the latter two every alternate Saturday. The markets are on Wednesday and Saturday, and are abundantly supplied with provisions. Fairs for cattle, sheep, pigs, &c., are held on the first Wednesday of every month. There are four deliveries of letters daily (week days), namely, at 7.35 A.M., 1.45 P.M., 6.20 P.M., and 8.30 P.M. On Sundays one delivery at 8.50 A.M. There are six despatches of letters to Dublin daily, namely, at 9.45 A.M. and 11.40 A.M., 3.30 P.M., 5.0 P.M., 6.25 P.M., and 10.30 P.M.; despatches to England at 6.25 P.M. and 10.30 P.M. On Sundays at 5.0 P.M. and 10 P.M. to Dublin and England. There are Postal and Telegraph Offices, Telephone Exchange, &c.

CABINTEELY AND CARRICKMINES.

CABINTEELY, a village partly in Killiney, but chiefly in Tully parish, Rathdown barony, Dublin county, eight miles S.S.E. from Dublin, comprising an area of five acres. Population, 226, inhabiting 36 houses. It is situated at the junction of the roads from Blackrock and Donnybrook, and on the mail coach road to Bray. The houses are small and irregularly built, and it contains a Roman Catholic Chapel. The principal seats in the vicinity are, Cabinteely House—it forms three sides of a square, and commands a most extensive view of the Bays of Dublin and Killiney—and Brenanstown House, the residences of Mrs. Pim, and Glendruid, that of Frank Malone, esq., in the grounds of which there is a perfect cromlech of six upright stones, supporting one of 14 by 12, and is estimated to weigh about twenty-five tons. About half a mile beyond Cabinteely an extensive Royal encampment stood in 1793, and remained there until the rebellion was finally subdued.

CASTLEKNOCK, CLONSILLA, AND MULHUDDART.

CASTLEKNOCK, an inland parish and village in the barony of Castleknock, and county of Dublin, 5 miles N.W. from the General Post Office, Dublin, comprising in the united parishes of Castleknock, Clonsilla, and Mulhuddart, an area of 9,570 acres, of which 644½ acres are in the Phoenix Park. The population is about 6,000, of which 14, are in the village of Castleknock, inhabiting 40 houses. In the grounds of St. Vincent's College, and within a quarter of a mile of the village, are the ruins of the ancient Castle of Castleknock. There are included in the parish the Viceregal Lodge; the residence of the Chief and Under Secretaries; Mountjoy House (the Ordnance Survey Offices). At Dunsink is the Observatory, the residence of the Astronomer Royal. Along the banks of the Liffey run the Strawberry Beds. There is a flour mill at Blanchardstown, an oil mill at Ashtown, a candle factory at Dunsinea. The public buildings are the Churches of Castleknock and Clonsilla, about 2½ miles apart; the Roman Catholic Churches of Blanchardstown and Porterstown. There is also St. Vincent's Home, Cabra, an auxiliary Workhouse belonging to the North Dublin Union, and a similar institution belonging to the Guardians of the South Dublin Union on the opposite side of the road. On the grounds attached to the old Castle is St. Vincent's College, in which there are over 200 students. There are two commodious Endowed Boarding Schools (Morgan's and Mercer's), within half a mile of the Blanchardstown railway station, on the Midland Railway, and on the Ashtown-road, in which 40 boys and 40 girls receive education. There is also a Postal and Telegraph Office. Petty Sessions are held at Blanchardstown on every alternate Monday. The Midland Railway has a station at Blanchardstown, and another at Clonsilla. The Royal Canal runs through the parishes parallel to the Railway.

CHAPELIZOD.

CHAPELIZOD, a village partly in Palmerstown parish, Uppercross barony, but chiefly in the parish of the same name, Castleknock barony, Dublin county, three miles W. from the General Post Office, Dublin, comprising an area of 63 acres. Population, 1,280, inhabiting 255 houses. It is partly situate on the river Liffey, on the high road to Galway, and near to the Great Southern and Western line of Railway. It is said to derive its name from La belle Izod, daughter of King Aengus. King William III. spent several days in it; and prior to the erection of the Viceregal lodge, it was the country residence of the Viceroy. Its buildings are, a Church, with an ivied tower, a Convent at Mount Sackville, where over 60 boarders and over 100 day pupils attend, a Roman Catholic Church, a Dispensary, a National School, and Metropolitan Police Station, also Postal and Telegraph Office. Electric tramway starts from Conyngham-road.

CLONDALKIN.

CLONDALKIN, an inland parish and village, partly in Newcastle, but chiefly in Uppercross barony, Dublin county, 4½ miles S.W. from Dublin, comprising an area of 4,777 acres, of which 44 are in the village. Population, 2,179; of village, 470, inhabiting 88 houses. It is situated near the ninth lock of the Grand Canal, and close to the line of the Great Southern and Western Railway, of which it is the first station from Dublin. It was anciently named Cluain-Dolcan, and by the Danes Dun-awley. The village consists chiefly of one irregular street, of small but neatly built houses and cottages. The only public buildings are the Parish Church, a small plain modern building, and a neat Roman Catholic Church. It has Almshouses for destitute widows, a Dorcas Institution, Lying-in Hospital, and Dispensary, a Parochial and two National Schools, and a Constabulary Police Station. The ancient round tower is the nearest structure of the kind to the metropolis, and is in good preservation. It stands 100 feet high, and is 15 feet in diameter, covered with a conical roof of stone.

CLONTARF AND DOLLYMOUNT, AND PORTION OF FAIRVIEW.

CLONTARF (URBAN DISTRICT), AMALGAMATED WITH THE CITY OF DUBLIN BY ACT OF PARLIAMENT, 1900.

CLONTARF, a maritime parish and formerly a township in Coolock barony, Dublin county, three miles E.N.E. from the General Post Office, Dublin, comprising an area of 1,289 acres, of which 38 are occupied by the "sheds" of Clontarf. It is a memorable place in Irish history, as the scene of a great battle fought by King Brian Boromh, or Boru, on Good Friday, 1014, that put an end to the Danish power in Ireland, the details of which are variously and diffusively narrated by the native historians, and form, it is said, the subject of Gray's ode of the "Fatal Sisters." The High road skirts the strand, and off it branch many important roads and avenues, which are lined with villas and houses. Castle-aveue occupies the centre of the township, and runs from the High road to the gate of the castle. The green lanes of Clontarf are justly celebrated for their sylvan beauty; along them are situated many fine residences. The castle of Clontarf, one of the first within the English pale, was taken down in 1835, and the present mansion, with a Norman tower erected thereon. A fine Town Hall, erected in 1894, and enlarged, 1898. A handsome Episcopal Church has been recently built. There are also Presbyterian and Methodist Churches. The two Roman Catholic Churches are large and handsome structures. There are Parochial and Roman Catholic Free Schools, and others, under the National Board. The O'Brien Institution, situated on the Malahide road, is for Roman Catholic Orphans. There are also two District Stations within the township. It is much frequented in summer for sea bathing, and is well provided for as regards recreation, as the Royal Golf Club Links are at Dollymount and there are also good cricket and tennis clubs, and a yacht club. The Great Northern Railway Line passes through portion of the Township, and a commodious station has been erected near the Howth road. The Tramway through the Township has been recently electrically equipped, a very fine power station being erected in the grounds of the Tramway Depot, everything in connection with the installation being on the newest and most approved type. There is also an Electric Tram road from Clontarf to Howth. Near Dollymount, at the further extremity of Clontarf strand, is an extensive causeway or break-water, called the "Bull wall." It extends upwards of 1½ miles in a S.S.E. direction. A tram car starts from Sackville-street every five minutes. There are 4 Post Offices in the Township, 3 of them being also Postal Telegraph Offices.

CRUMLIN.

CRUMLIN, a parish and village in Uppercross barony, Dublin county, three and a-half miles S.W. from the General Post Office, Dublin, comprising an area of 1,817 acres, of which 21 are occupied by the village. Population of parish, 923; of village, 204, inhabiting 44 houses. In 1594, the village was burned by the Wicklow septs of the O'Tooles and Byrnes; and in 1690, part of the army of King William III. encamped here on their return from the Boyne; from which it is said that monarch issued his proclamation against the brass coin of James II. The Church is a plain building; the Roman Catholic Church a neat edifice. A Dispensary, a National School, and a Metropolitan Police Station are in the village.

DALKEY (URBAN DISTRICT).

DALKEY, a parish and township in Rathdown barony, Dublin county, eight miles S.E. from the General Post Office, Dublin, and two from Kingstown, comprising an area of 601 acres. Population, 1901, 3,398. Rateable valuation of property over £16,421 15s. It is picturesquely situated on the southern shore of Dublin bay, and appears from an early period to have been a town and port of some importance, having had a charter of incorporation, as is on record, by an enrolment of 33 Edw. III. dated 8th Feb., 1358, which styles its corporate officers as the "Provost and Bailiffs of the town of Dalkey," and down to the end of the seventeenth century it maintained the character of a port, and was protected by seven castles, the remains of three are still to be seen on the side of the main streets. The town comprises one main street with several other streets leading from it. There is a Roman Catholic Church and a Wesleyan Methodist Church. The Protestant Church is a large and elegant building; and not far distant is the Loretto Convent, a handsome cruciform structure. There is a National School, Coast-guard, Metropolitan Police Stations, Public Library, and Concert Hall. Dalkey island, comprising an area of twenty-two acres, lies about three furlongs from the mainland. The only buildings on it are a martello tower battery, and ruins of a church, stated to have been dedicated to St. Benedict, and now one of the national monuments vested in the Board of Works. In the end of the 18th, and beginning of the 19th century, a convivial Dublin club used to assemble on the island annually in June, and go through all the burlesque form and pomp of a mock coronation of "King of Dalkey," with officers of state, &c. A harbour has been completed, and a fine deep water bathing place with hot and cold baths, and one of the old castles (which dates from the year 1498), has been restored for the Town Hall. The Town is connected with a frequent train service to Westland-row, and also by electric tramway with Kingstown and Dublin. There is a Postal Telegraph and Telephone Office.

DOLLYMOUNT—see CLONTARF TOWNSHIP.DONABATE.

DONABATE, a village and parish in the barony of Nethercross, Dublin county, eleven miles N. by E. from Dublin, and comprising an area of 5,015 acres. Population, 724, inhabiting 147 houses. It is situated on the line of the Great Northern Railway. The parish church is a small building in the Gothic style; it contains some interesting monuments, including one to Archbishop Cobbe, who was buried here about the middle of the last century, and another to one of the Barnwells (Baron Trimbleston), erected in 1593. The Roman Catholic church is a spacious edifice in the old Gothic style, and was built in the early part of the present century. Both churches have been much improved during the past twenty years. It has a dispensary, Post Office, and Telegraph Office, and is a Constabulary Police Station. Near it is the important townland of Portrane, on which is situated the National Schools and Coast Guard Station. At Portrane a new Lunatic Asylum is in course of erection at a cost of £250,000.

DONNYBROOK (PEMBROKE TOWNSHIP).

DONNYBROOK, a village in the parish of the same name, Dublin barony and county, two and a-half miles S.E. from the General Post Office, Dublin, now forming part of the Pembroke township. It is situated upon the river Dodder, over which is Anglesea bridge, an erection in compliment to the nobleman of that name, while Viceroy, in 1830, and on the road to Bray. The village consists of one main street, with some few avenues and lanes branching off and along the fair green and river. The parish Church, in Simmonscourt, dedicated to St. Mary, is a spacious and elegant vaulted building, in the early style; it has been lately enlarged, by the addition of transepts and chancel, at a cost of £3,000. Hours of Divine service, 11.30 A.M., 4 P.M., and 7 P.M. The parish includes also the district Church of St. John, Sandymount. The new Roman Catholic Church occupies a prominent place, and is from a design by Pugin and Ashlin; it is built of granite, with Bath stone dressings, and cost about £6,000. There is also a Magdalen Asylum and a Dispensary; and on the road to Dublin is the Hospital for Incurables; also a lunatic asylum, called the Bloomfield Retreat, established by the Society of Friends. There are schools on Erasmus Smith's foundation, and one attached to the Roman Catholic Church, also a Sunday school. It is within the G.P.O. delivery. Tram cars arrive from and start to Dublin every 10 minutes.

DRUMCONDRA, named from a village in Clonturk parish, Coolock barony, Dublin county, two miles N. from the General Post Office. Population in 1891, 8,041. Value of rateable property 1900, £30,398. It is situated on the road to Malahide, Howth, and Swords. The parish of Clonturk embraces within its limits Richmond village and neighbourhood, and numerous mansions. The Church is a small plain building, erected by the Coghill family. The Roman Catholic Church is near Annesley bridge. In Grace Park Road, formerly Goosegreen-avenue, is the Roman Catholic Missionary College of All-Hallows, the object of which is to educate clergymen for foreign missions. It is an extensive building, in a demesne of 24 acres. There are also Holycross College and Church, and the Nunnery and Roman Catholic Church of St. Alphonsus. At Drumcondra Castle is St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Male Blind Asylum, a spacious institution, under the care of the Carmelite Brothers. There is a Dispensary, Parochial School, Asylum for Female Penitents, and a Widows' House. In 1878 a local Act was passed forming the districts of Drumcondra, Clonliffe, and Glasnevin into a township. The townlands of Donnycarney and Goosegreen which were not in the Drumcondra Township, but in the County of Dublin, have been also added to the City of Dublin by the Boundaries Bill of 1900. There is a Postal Telegraph Office.

DUNDRUM.

DUNDRUM, a village in the parish of Taney, Rathdown barony, Dublin county, four miles S. from the General Post Office, Dublin, comprising an area of 35 acres. Population, 529. It is situated at the base of the Dublin mountains, on the road to Enniskerry, and consists of one main street. There is a Roman Catholic Church, and two Convents, one at Mount Annville and another at Roebuck; there are a Petty Sessions' Court-house, Dispensary, and two National Schools. The Church of Taney, on Taney hill, is a handsome cruciform building. The neighbourhood abounds in richly diversified scenery, commanding fine views of Dublin bay and mountains, and is studded with numerous seats and elegant villas. Dundrum is recommended for the purity of its air, and in summer is much resorted to by invalids. There is a station of the Dublin and Wicklow Railway at the entrance to the village. There is a Postal Telegraph Office at the Post Office.

MAGISTRATES APPOINTED TO ATTEND PETTY SESSIONS, every alternate Monday—F. Elrington Ball, esq.; C. J. Wallace, esq.; W. A. Harris, esq.; V. W. Browne, esq.; Fane Vernon, esq.; C. FINGLAS.

FINGLAS, an inland parish and village, partly in Nethercross, but chiefly in Castleknock barony, Dublin county, four miles N. from the General Post Office, Dublin, comprising an area of 4,696 acres. It is situate on the high road to Ashbourne. At this place, Strongbow, with 500 men, routed the Irish army, consisting of several thousands, and nearly took King O'Connor prisoner. In 1649, the Marquess of Ormonde encamped in the vicinity, prior to his march on Rathmines. In 1690, William III. mustered his army here after the battle of the Boyne, 30,000 strong. The Archbishop of Dublin long held the manor and resided here, where, also, Fulk De Saundford died in 1271, and Archbishop Fitzsimon in 1351. The village consists chiefly of small, irregular-built houses. The only public buildings are the parish Church and Roman Catholic Church. It has a Dispensary and Parochial School.

GLASNEVIN

(TOWNSHIP OF DRUMCONDRA, CLONIFFE, AND GLASNEVIN).

Amalgamated with the City of Dublin by Act of Parliament, 1900.

GLASNEVIN, a village in the parish of the same name, Coolock barony, Dublin county, two miles N.E. from the General Post Office, Dublin, comprising an area of 21 acres. It is situated on the bank of the river Tolka, and on the road to Naule. It was long a favourite suburban and summer residence, occupied in the beginning of the last century by Tickell, the poet, and, subsequently, occasionally by Dean Delany, Swift, Addison, Sheridan, Parnell, and other distinguished literary men. The throwing open of the Royal Botanic Gardens, and establishment of the tramway system between the gardens and Nelson's Pillar, has led to very considerable improvements in the village and neighbourhood, which is now lighted with gas. The village occupies elevated ground, rising gradually from the river, and containing 60 houses, several of which are handsome buildings. The Church is a small edifice. There is a Roman Catholic church, a Dispensary, a private Lunatic Asylum, several Schools, of which one is the Model Training School of the Board of Agriculture. The Botanic Gardens, founded by the Royal Dublin Society, and transferred to the Department of Science and Art in 1877, close to the village, occupying 40 acres, are open to the public on every day. In the vicinity is Claremont Deaf and Dumb Institution, occupying 18 acres, founded in 1816, and supported by donations and subscriptions, the Albert Institution, or Model Farm, containing 180 acres, and Prospect Cemetery, containing 58 acres, which contains some beautiful monuments: among others, one in honour of Curran is a facsimile of the tomb of Scipio Barbatus, and there is also the magnificent monument (height 164½ feet) erected in memory of O'Connell. The principal seats are, Glasnevin house, many years the residence of the late Bishop of Kildare, and now the Convent of the Holy Faith; and Delville, now the residence of Stephen Lanigan O'Keeffe, esq., where it is said Swift composed and printed his satires on the Irish parliament. On the grounds of Elmhurst House, Hampstead, formerly stood Hampstead Castle, the residence of Sir Richard Steele, author of The Tatler, and mentioned in Dean Swift's letters as the pleasant resort where he enjoyed the hospitality of Lady Lucy Steele. Electric trams run between Glasnevin and Nelson's Pillar frequently throughout the day. There is a Postal Telegraph Office at the Post Office.

GOLDEN-BALL (NOW KILTERNAN).

GOLDEN-BALL, now known as Kiltiernan, a small village and post-town in Kiltiernan parish and Rathdown barony, Dublin county, nine miles S. by E. from Dublin. It is situated on the road to Enniskerry, and at or near the junction of four parishes—Tully, Kiltiernan, Kilgobbin, and Rathmichael, to which it is convenient merely for its post-office. In the vicinity is some of the boldest and most strikingly diversified scenery in the county. The noted Scalp, a deep natural defile or chasm, on the confines of Wicklow on one side, with the Two and Three-rock Mountains on the other, the former rising 1,763 feet, and the Three-rock Mountain 1,479 feet above the level of the sea. Near the village is the Church of Kiltiernan, a handsome erection in the later English style; and a Protestant Endowed School; there is also a Protestant Endowed School in Kilgobbin; at Sandystown, there is a small but very neat Roman Catholic Church; and at Glancullen there is also a Roman Catholic Church and two National Schools. Two miles N.W. from Kiltiernan is the village of Stepaside, in Kilgobbin parish, which is a Constabulary Police Station, and has a Dispensary. About one mile and a quarter N.E. of the village is the hamlet of Carrickmines in Tully parish. Near Kiltiernan are the Ballycorus lead mines of the Mining Company of Ireland.

Carrickmines has four fairs in the year, January 6, April 14, June 24, and October 14, chiefly for cattle, sheep, and pigs.

GOLDEN-BRIDGE (KILMAINHAM TOWNSHIP).

GOLDEN-BRIDGE, a village in the parish of St. Jude, Uppercross barony, Dublin county, three miles W. from the General Post Office, Dublin, comprising an area of 162 acres. It is situated near the second lock of the Grand Canal, and on the road to Naas. It adjoins the Richmond Barracks, from the building of which it had its origin. It has a Wesleyan Methodist Church, and Male and Female Schools. Richmond Barracks occupy an area of 14 Irish acres, and consist of two fronts, with extensive courts and yards. There are paper, flour, and other mills in the vicinity. The first general Cemetery was established here in 1829, by a grant of £1,000 from the Catholic Association funds. It is chiefly used by Roman Catholic families, is tastefully arranged, planted, and surrounded by high walls.

HAROLD'S-CROSS (TOWNSHIP OF RATHMINES AND RATHGAR).

HAROLD'S-CROSS, a village partly in the parish of St. Catherine, but chiefly in that of St. Peter, St. Nicholas without, Uppercross barony, Dublin county, two and a quarter miles S. by W. from the General Post Office, Dublin, comprising an area of 256 acres. It is pleasantly situated, near the Grand Canal, and on the road to Rathfarnham. The village occupies a wide area, in the centre of which is Harold's-cross Park, which was laid out and is maintained by the Rathmines Commissioners, and in the vicinity are some handsome villas. The principal buildings are the Church, at the entrance of Mount Jerome Cemetery, a spacious and elegant structure, and the new and handsome Roman Catholic Church of the Passionists. The convent of St. Clare is on the left of the village, attached to which is a very neat Chapel; and a large Female Orphan Free School, supported partly by subscription and an annual charity sermon. There is also a National male and female School. Greenmount linen factory of Messrs. Pim is to the right of the entrance of the village; it gives employment to a great number of hands. The principal attraction at this place is Mount Jerome Cemetery, managed by a company of shareholders, under Act 4 and 5 Wm. IV. cap. 65, and comprises fifty acres. It has extensive vaults, and abounds in handsome tombs and monuments, among which is one in honour of the late much-lamented Thomas Drummond, Under-Secretary for Ireland. It is within the G.P.O. delivery.

HOWTH AND SUTTON.

Howth, a maritime parish and town in Coolock barony, nine miles N.E. by N. from the General Post Office, Dublin, comprising an area of 2,690 acres. Population, 2,699, of which 1,166 are in the town of Howth. It forms a promontory and a peninsula, occupying the N. side of Dublin bay, joining the mainland by a low sandy isthmus half a mile in width. The hill embraces the outer and wider portion of the peninsula two miles in length by one and a half in breadth, rising 560 feet above the level of the sea, and seen from all points, is a very interesting and striking object. Passing over the early historical notices of this place, in 1177 Sir Amorey Tristram landed here with a large force, and signally defeated the Danes, and by it gained the lordship of Howth, which his descendants have continued in possession of ever since, by the name of St. Lawrence, now the property of William, thirtieth Baron, and fourth Earl of Howth. The town occupies the N. side of the hill. Its ecclesiastical buildings are, the Parish Church, a new Roman Catholic Church, erected in the centre of the town, and a new Presbyterian Church situated on the Claremont-road, and a new Methodist Church on the Dublin-road. There is a Dispensary, Coast Guard and Constabulary Police Stations, and a National School. The Baily Lighthouse, on the S. angle of the hill, can be seen seventeen miles in clear weather. Howth Castle is an embattled structure, with a tower at each end; the hall, running the whole length of the building, is decorated with armour and military weapons, among which is a large two-handed sword, said to have been that used by Sir Amorey against the Danes. Upwards of half a million was expended on the harbour in 1807, and prior to the erection of Kingstown harbour, Howth was the chief packet station, and the usual place of landing and embarkation. George IV. landed here in August, 1821. Here is a branch of the Great Northern Railway. Electric trams run frequently every day connecting Howth with Dublin, and the Great Northern Railway Co. have constructed a line of electric trams to convey passengers all round the Hill. A public call-office has been opened in connection with the Telephone Company. Howth is rapidly becoming one of the most favourite watering places in the vicinity of Dublin. There are hot and cold baths. There is a Postal Telegraph Office at Howth village, at the Baily Post Office, and at Sutton Railway Station. Population of the civil parishes of Howth and Kilbarrack in 1901, 2,987.

ISLAND-BRIDGE (PARTLY IN KILMAINHAM TOWNSHIP).

ISLAND-BRIDGE, a suburban village, partly in the parish of St. James, and partly in the parish of St. Jude, but chiefly in Dublin city, two miles W. from the General Post Office, Dublin. Population, 617. It is situated on the S. bank of the river Liffey, and takes its name from an old bridge that stood here prior to the present one, a noble arch of 105 feet span, erected in 1791, in compliment to Sarah, Countess of Westmorland, by whom the first stone was laid, and after whom it is also called. Here are extensive cavalry barracks. The Great Southern and Western Railway passes close to the village, across the road leading from Kilmainham, over which is a bridge of ten iron girders. Island or Sarah bridge connects the village with the N.W. road and one of the entrances to the Phoenix Park, within which portion is the Royal Magazine Fort and the Wellington Testimonial. It is within the G.P.O. delivery.

KILLINEY AND BALLYBRACK (URBAN DISTRICT).

THESE places, including the village of Loughlinstown, were formed into a Township on the 18th July, 1866. The valuation of the Township is £12,215, the first Improvement rate levied was 4d., and the last Urban rate 4s. in the pound. The Commissioners (now Urban District Council) have assumed the sanitary duties, including supply of water and care of the roads, hence the increase of taxation which used to be levied in the form of poor rate and county cess. Population 1901, 2,744. The hill of Killiney, Cill-inghen-Leinin (the Church of the daughters of Leinin), adjoins Dalkey, and rises boldly from the sea to a height of 500 feet, extending along the shore towards Bray for nearly two miles. The ridge is broken into three summits, which are distinctly seen from several points of view, one of them being crowned by a dismantled signal tower, another by an obelisk, erected about the middle of last century by Mr. Malpas, to give relief in a season of great distress. The slopes on each side are diversified with villas of every description, the southern, or seaside, is more precipitous, and interesting from the beauty of the beach. From the summit of the hill the eye commands the entire outline of the Bay of Dublin, and of the lovely Bay of Killiney which sweeps in one unbroken curve along its southern base, and thence to the bold headland of Bray. The geology of the district is exceedingly interesting, and the ancient church of Killiney presents features of archaeological importance, dating beyond the Norman conquest. There is a Postal Telegraph Office at the Post Office, Killiney, also at Ballybrack.

KILMAINHAM AND INCHICORE.

Incorporated with the City of Dublin by Act of Parliament, 1900.

THIS Township, which is rapidly improving, comprises the villages of Kilmainham, Golden-bridge, Inchicore, and Island-bridge, is situated on the road to Naas, and close to the line of the Great Southern and Western Railway, and is within the Metropolitan Police district. It is interesting only as regards its antiquity, Royal Hospital, County Court House, and Gaol. The Royal Hospital of Kilmainham, similar to that of Chelsea, for maimed officers and soldiers, was erected in 1680, after a design of Sir Christopher Wren, at an expense of £23,559. It is a quadrangular building, two stories high, enclosing an area 210 feet square, neatly intersected by walks. The north entrance, of the Corinthian order, is surmounted by a square tower, clock turret and octagonal spire. The dining-hall, 100 feet long, is wainscotted with oak, and ornamented with portraits of most of the sovereigns and viceroys. The chapel has a beautiful ornamented ceiling, and the east window is the gift of Her late Majesty, Queen Victoria. The master is generally the Commander of the Forces, who makes this his official residence, from whence, like the Horse Guards, London, all the military organization and arrangements take place as regards Ireland. The Hospital is maintained by an annual parliamentary grant, and provides every necessary comfort for upwards of 140 veterans and officers. The Hospital, though retaining its old title of "Royal Hospital, Kilmainham," is within the boundary of the city of Dublin. The County Court House is a large and handsome edifice, which adjoins the County Gaol, a spacious and well-arranged prison. The election for the members of the county, as also Quarter Sessions, are held here. The new and beautiful Parish Church of St. Jude is in the immediate neighbourhood. In the village there is an Independent Church. There is also, on the Naas-road, the handsome Roman Catholic Church of the Oblate Fathers, and a new Methodist Church. It is within the General Post Office delivery.

KINGSTOWN.

KINGSTOWN, a seaport town, and the royal mail packet station of the metropolis, in the parish of Monkstown, Rathdown barony, Dublin county, six miles E.S.E. from the General Post Office, Dublin. This is one of the most populous and wealthy townships in the kingdom, the number of inhabitants within the limits of the town under the operation of the Towns Improvement Act, 1854, is 17,377. The district comprises Monkstown, Dunleary, Kingstown proper, and Glasthule, the area being 905 acres. The town is situated on the south shore of Dublin bay, and derives its name from King George IV., who embarked here 3rd September, 1821, when the harbour was also called the "Royal Harbour of George IV." as is inscribed on a granite obelisk, surmounted by a crown, near the wharf, erected by the Harbour Commissioners to commemorate the occasion. The public buildings are, the Railway Terminus, St. Michael's Hospital, Royal St. George Yacht Club, Royal Irish Yacht Club, Edward Yacht Club, Town Hall, Pavilion Gardens, George IV.'s Obelisk, Post Office, and Boyd Testimonial, the latter erected on the east pier at a cost of £160, subscribed by the Royal St. George's Yacht Club. It commemorates the bravery of Captain Boyd and his boat's crew, who lost their lives while striving to save seamen on the 9th February, 1861, when fourteen vessels were lost in the harbour in a terrible gale from the N.E. There is also a Sailors' Home and Reading Room, and Sailors' Bethel. The Churches are, Mariners' Church, Christ Church, Congregational Church, St. John's Church, St. Paul's Church, St. Michael's Roman Catholic Church, St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church, Presbyterian Church and Methodist Church. In connexion with the Protestant Churches there is the Men's Christian Institute in Upper George's-street. There are Metropolitan Police and Coast Guard Stations, Branches of the National, Ulster, and Royal Banks, and National and Christian Brothers' schools, Kingstown Grammar School, and Victoria School. There are several hotels, the principal of which are the Royal Marine, Victoria House Hotel (Ross's), and Bayside Hotel. The houses in the terraces and others fronting the harbour are elegant buildings. The town is lighted with gas, and contains a public Library and Reading-room in Eblana-avenue. The town is also provided with Public Pleasure Grounds and Public Baths. The Royal Harbour, from which the town may be said to date its origin, was commenced in 1816, from designs of the late Mr. Rennie, by direction of the Lords of the Admiralty, and finished in 1859, at a cost of £825,000. The east pier is 3,500 feet in length; and the west, 4,950 feet from the shore—leaving at the mouth an open of 760 feet: the whole forming an area of 250 acres, varying in depth from 15 to 27 feet. The quay along the piers is 40 feet wide, protected from the sea by a parapet, nine feet high. On the quay, along the breast of the harbour, is a wharf 500 feet in length, where vessels, drawing as much as 24 feet, may load and unload at any state of the tide. This wharf is known as the "Victoria Wharf," where Her late Majesty Queen Victoria landed on the occasion of her respective visits to Ireland in 1849, 1861, and 1900. Near the same place a large ornamental Drinking Fountain has been erected to commemorate the Royal Visit made in the last-mentioned year. On the extremity of the east pier is a bright revolving flash light, which may be seen, every half minute, 25 miles at sea, in clear weather; and on the west pier head is a red light defining the entrance to the harbour. The City of Dublin Company's Royal Mail steam packets, Ulster, Munster, Leinster, and Connaught, start from Holyhead twice every day with the mails and passengers. The first packet from Kingstown leaves at 8.15 A.M.; the second packet at 8.15 P.M.; on Sundays at 8.15 A.M., and 8.15 P.M. Passengers from Dublin leave by special trains at 8.0 A.M. and 7.45 P.M.; on Sundays at 8.0 A.M., and 7.45 P.M.; from Holyhead on the arrival of the 7.15 A.M. and 8.45 P.M., mail trains from London; on Sundays on the arrival of the 10.45 A.M. train from Crewe, and the 8.45 P.M. from London: trains for Dublin start immediately on the landing of the mails and passengers at Kingstown. There are daily packets to and from Holyhead and Liverpool from the North-wall, Dublin. The railway from Kingstown to Dublin was opened in 1834. The line, six miles in length, cost no less than £63,000 per mile; it is now in the hands of the Dublin, Wicklow, and Wexford Railway Company, to whom it is leased. There is an electric tram service running through the town. The valuation of township in 1899 was £76,000. There is a Postal Telegraph Office attached to the Post Office at Royal Marine road.

LUCAN.

LUCAN, an inland town and parish in Newcastle barony, Dublin county, seven miles W. from Dublin, comprising an area of 1,126 acres. Population, 372. It is partly the property of the Colthurst Vesey family, and partly the property of J. F. Shackleton, esq., who have purchased the Petty Canon lands from the representatives of the late J. Gannon, esq. The town is prettily situated in a fertile vale, on the banks of the River Liffey, which is here crossed by a stone bridge of one arch, and consists of one wide angular street of small but neat houses and cottages, many of which are let in summer to visitors and invalids. Its public buildings are, the Parish Church, a neat structure with a tower and spire, a large Roman Catholic Church, a Sisters of Mercy Convent, a Wesleyan Methodist Church, and a Presbyterian Church and a Manse. It has a Dispensary, a Leading Library, Church, Rectory, National Schools, and a Parochial Hall. It is a Chief Constabulary Police Station, and Petty Sessions are held every alternate Monday. In the grounds of Weston Park and Leixlip Castle is the well-known and much-frequented waterfall, called the Salmon Leap, which consists of a succession of rocky ledges crossing the Liffey, over which the fish dart at one bound. It forms a beautiful cascade, the picturesque effect of which is greatly increased by the rich and lofty wooded banks of the river, and the adjoining tastefully embellished demesne of Leixlip Castle. The Lucan spa is much frequented by visitors and invalids. A beautiful and capacious new hotel and sanatorium has been completed by the "Lucan Hydropathic Spa Co., Limited," and is generally crowded with visitors. There is an electric railway from Dublin, Conyngham-road, to Lucan.

MALAHIDE.

MALAHIDE, a maritime town and parish in Coolock barony, Dublin county, nine miles N. from Dublin, comprising an area of 1,126 acres. Population, 649. The town is situated on a narrow inlet of the sea, and on the Great Northern railway. The Castle is a large square building, flanked by lofty circular towers, and stands on a high limestone rock, commanding a fine view of the town and bay. Of the original Castle little remains but the site, and that has been greatly enlarged and improved; the principal front is embattled, and the main entrance, which is under a splendid Gothic porch, is defended by two circular towers. The grand hall is roofed with richly-carved ancient Irish oak, lighted by three large windows, with a gallery at the end. Among the many splendid apartments the Castle contains, the most curious is that called the "oak chamber," ceiled and wainscoted with richly-carved oak, in compartments, containing scriptural devices, and lighted with a pointed window of stained glass. In the drawing-room, among other valuable paintings, there is a small altar-piece painted by Albert Durer, said to have been originally in the oratory of Mary Queen of Scots, at Holyrood House. The demesne is adorned with groups of stately trees, and the grounds and gardens of the Castle are beautifully laid out. It is open daily to visitors. The town contains many handsome private residences which are permanently occupied. The only public buildings are the Church, a neat edifice of the later English style, which has recently been enlarged and restored, and a handsome Roman Catholic Church. It has a large and handsome Hotel, a Constabulary Police and a Coast-guard Station, a National School, and a Parochial Church of Ireland School. Off the coast there are profitable beds of oysters, the property of the Lord of the Manor. There is a Postal Telegraph Office at the Post Office.

MERRION (PEMBROKE TOWNSHIP).

MERRION, a village in the parish of St. Mary, Donnybrook, Dublin barony and county, three miles S.E. by S. from the G.P.O., Dublin; comprising an area of 197 acres. It is situated on the road to Kingstown and Bray, and fronts the strand of the bay of Dublin, which is here crossed by the Kingstown railway. The houses are mostly let in lodgings in the summer to sea bathers. Along the road to Blackrock, and in the neighbourhood around, there are various pretty seats and villas, among which are Elm-park, Bloomfield, Merrion-hall, and Merrion Castle, in the grounds of which latter are the ivied ruins of the Castle of the ancient proprietors. The Castle has been considerably enlarged and is now known as St. Mary's Asylum for female blind. The parish church is situate at Simmonscoot, Donnybrook. The tram cars pass through the village. The Merrion Promenade Pier and Salt Water Swimming Baths were erected in 1883 at a cost of about £5,000.

MONKSTOWN, a maritime parish, partly in the barony of Dublin, but chiefly in that of Rathdown, Dublin county, five miles S.E. from the G.P.O., Dublin, comprising, with the town of Kingstown and the villages of Blackrock, Bullock, Glashule, and Newtown, an area of 2,051 acres. Population, 25,000. It is delightfully situated on the south side of the bay of Dublin, and the rural portion embraces some of the most rich and varied landscapes; innumerable seats and villas, encircled in demesnes, or adorned with shrubberies and gardens, abound; other residences in beautiful terraces, front the sea. The parish Church, in the later English style, stands on the right of the road to Kingstown, and is an imposing if not a handsome structure; also St. John's Church, a Roman Catholic church, and a Meeting-house of the Society of Friends. The Monkstown hospital, founded 1834, re-built, 1880, contains twenty beds, is supported by voluntary contributions, and receives patients without religious distinction. The Salt-hill hotel, an extensive establishment, is adjacent to the Salthill railway station, and commands fine views. There is also a railway station at Seapoint. Trains pass and repass from Dublin and Kingstown every half-hour, from 6 A.M. to 11.45 P.M.; and there is an Electric Tramway line from Dalkey to Dublin. There is a Postal Telegraph at the Post Office.

PALMERSTOWN.

PALMERSTOWN, or PALMERSTON, a parish and village in Uppercross barony, Dublin county, five miles west from the General Post Office, Dublin, comprising an area of 1,518 acres. Population of the parish, 1,511. It is situated on the river Liffey and road to Lucan. The village consists of small humble dwellings, irregularly built, a Roman Catholic chapel, and Constabulary Police station. The Great Southern and Western line of railway passes through the parish. In the vicinity there are several handsome seats and villas, the principal of which is Palmerstown House, a former seat of the Earl of Donoughmore, erected by his ancestor, the Right Hon. T. H. Hutchinson, when Secretary for Ireland. It is now occupied by the Stewart Institution, It is a spacious mansion on an elevated situation, commanding fine views. A fair for horses and cattle, well frequented, takes place on 21st August. There is now a steam tramway which starts from Conyngham-road and runs to Lucan and Leixlip.

PHOENIX PARK.

THE PHOENIX PARK, contiguous to the N. W. boundary of Dublin city, and N. of the river Liffey, comprises an area of 1,760 statute acres, and is about seven miles in circumference. Irish antiquarians derive its name from a spring of limpid water, in Irish fiann-uisge, pronounced fin-uiske, and gradually corrupted into phoenix. The greater portion of it formed part of the possessions of the Knights Hospitallers, and on the suppression of the monasteries was surrendered to Henry VIII., and was afterwards enclosed for a deer park by the Duke of Ormonde, in the reign of Charles II. Several additions were subsequently made to it, and the whole was laid out in an ornamental manner by the Earl of Chesterfield, when Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, who also erected in it a pillar thirty feet high, surmounted by a phoenix rising out of the flames, in allusion to its popular name, and caused it to be thrown open as a place of recreation for the inhabitants of the city. There is also a splendid equestrian statue of the late Lord Gough. In it are the Lord Lieutenant's residence, and those of his Chief and Under Secretaries; also the Hibernian School, for soldiers' children; the offices of the Ordnance Survey; the Royal Military Infirmary; the Constabulary Barracks; the Wellington Testimonial, a lofty obelisk of granite, 150 feet high; and the Zoological Gardens.

RANELAGH AND CULLENSWOOD

(TOWNSHIP OF RATHMINES AND RATHGAR).

RANELAGH, a village in the parish of St. Peter, Uppercross barony, Dublin county, two miles S.E. from the General Post Office, Dublin, comprising an area of 170 acres. Population, 3,209. It is situated on the road to Dundrum and Enniskerry, and consists of one main street, a square, and several avenues and terraces. Here is a Carmelite Convent, with a neat Chapel, and a Wesleyan Methodist Church. There is a station on the Dublin, Wicklow, and Wexford Railway here. About half a mile further on is Cullenswood, a village in the same parish and barony as Ranelagh, comprising an area of 118 acres. Population, 732. In the neighbourhood there are many pretty villas and neat ranges of houses, particularly that of Sandford, so called from the circumstance of Lord Mountsandford having, in 1826, munificently erected and endowed a Church here. There is a Postal Telegraph Office at the Receiving Office, 13, Macgowan-terrace, Ranelagh-road. Electric Trams run to and from Sackville-street every 5 minutes.

RATHCOOLE AND SAGGARD.

RATHCOOLE, an inland town and parish in Newcastle barony, Dublin county, 10 miles S.W. from Dublin, comprising an area of 4,705 acres. Population, 271. The town, which was anciently called Radcull, is situated upon the road to Naas, and consists of one street, about a quarter of a mile in length, chiefly of small houses and cabins, irregularly built. The only public building is the Parish Church, a neat plain edifice. It has a Dispensary. It is the head station of the Constabulary force of the district of Uppercross. About two miles and a half N.W. from Rathcoole is the parish and village of Newcastle, comprising an area of 4,283 acres. Population, 1,108. It is situated on the Grand Canal. The village was formerly a borough, having a portrieve and burgesses under charter of James I., and prior to the Union, sent two members to the Irish parliament. The Church is an ancient picturesque edifice, covered with ivy, having a fine eastern window. The Roman Catholic Church is a neat building, with a belfry. There is a Dispensary and National Schools. Petty Sessions are held the first Friday in each month. There is a Postal Telegraph Office at the Post Office.

RATHFARNHAM.

RATHFARNHAM, a parish and village in Uppercross and Rathdown baronies, Dublin county, four miles south from the General Post Office, Dublin, comprising an area of 2,581 acres. Population, 9,203. It is situated on the road to Whitechurch, and near where the Military-road commences that crosses the mountains into Wicklow county. The village consists of one long irregular street: the Church on the right side, with a tower and spire. The Roman Catholic Church is a large building. The Loretto Convent, in the vicinity, is a modern building, attached to which there is an elegant chapel, a female free school, also a ladies' boarding and day school. The Novitiate College of the Augustinians and St. Columba's College are in the neighbourhood. There is also a Dispensary, a Petty Sessions Court-house, and Constabulary Police Station. Three fairs are held in the year—May 15, July 10, October 7. The bridge of Rathfarnham, over the river Dodder, is several hundred yards from the village, the approach to which is rising ground, thickly shaded in summer by the trees of the demesnes on each side. The neighbourhood abounds in pretty seats and villas, commanding rich views of the Dublin mountains and bay. At Grange is situated the "Priory," the residence of the famous John Philpot Curran. The castle of Rathfarnham was built by Archbishop Loftus in the reign of Elizabeth. One of the entrances to the demesne, fronting the Dodder, is in the style of a Roman triumphal arch. The entrance to the castle is by a portico of eight Doric columns that support a dome painted in fresco with the signs of the zodiac. Ballyboden, a village in the parish of Whitechurch, is about one and a quarter miles farther on, and comprises an area of two acres. Population, 252. There is a Postal Telegraph Office at the Post Office.

RATHMINES (URBAN DISTRICT).

RATHMINES, an extensive district, suburban to the metropolis, in the parish of St. Peter, Uppercross and Rathdown baronies, Dublin county, two miles south from the General Post Office, Dublin, comprising an area of 1,714 acres. Population of Township, 1901, 32,602. It is situated on the road to Rathfarnham and Tallaght, and is one continued line of elegant buildings, upwards of a mile and half in length, intersected by numerous terraces, with detached villas, and only separated from the city, at Portobello, by the Grand Canal, here crossed by La Touche's bridge, and where the municipal and parliamentary boundaries terminate. The parish Church is dedicated to the Holy Trinity, and has been rebuilt within the last few years at a cost of £6,000. It is now a spacious place of worship. The Roman Catholic Church is a large and handsome structure, in the later style, and the principal one of the Union of St. Mary and St. Peter. On the right of the road from Dublin is Portobello Military Barracks. There are free and National schools, a Police station, a Public Library (established 1887), and branches of the National, Royal, Belfast, and Ulster Banks.

In 1847, a local Act was obtained, creating that part of the parish of St. Peter which is in the barony of Upper-cross, into a Township; and this Act was amended by the Rathmines and Rathgar Improvement Act, 1862, by which the Townland of Rathgar, and the small Townland of Sallymount, were included; and was amended again by the St. Catherine's Improvement Act, 1866, by which the townlands of St. Catherine and St. Nicholas Without, in the barony of Uppercross, were included; again by Milltown Extension Act, 1880, by which Milltown was added. The total valuation of the Township is £160,000. The Commissioners have constructed new Water-works at a cost of about £200,000 at Glan-na-Smoil Valley, which supplies the Township with water under Rathmines and Rathgar Water Act, 1880. Tram cars ply on the Rathmines road, starting every few minutes from Nelson's Pillar, in Sackville-street, to Rathmines, Rathgar, and Terenure. There is a Postal Telegraph Office at the Branch and District Post Office, Portobello Bridge, and also at the Town Sub-Office, Wynfield Road.

RINGSEND (PEMBROKE TOWNSHIP).

RINGSEND, a maritime village in the parish of St. Mary's, Donnybrook, Dublin barony and county, 2 miles east from the General Post Office, Dublin, comprising an area of 54 acres. Population, 1,931. It is situated near Irishtown, upon the eastern bank of the river Dodder, at its confluence with the Liffey and tidal estuary of the harbour, also on the road to Sandymount, the Pigeon-house fort, and Light-house. The name is said to have been originally RIN-AUN, i.e. appropriately, "the point of the tide." Until a very late period it and the Pigeon-house fort, to which a mole called the South wall extends from the village 17,754 feet into the bay, was the chief landing and embarking place of Dublin. It consists of several streets of very indifferent and irregularly built houses, chiefly poor, and many dilapidated. Close to the village, on the western side of the Dodder, are the Grand Canal Docks, comprising an area of 25 acres, with 2,000 yards of quays, and from 17 to 18 feet depth of water. They have 3 spacious graving docks, and are entered from the channel by two wide gates. It has glass and salt works, a Wesleyan Methodist Church, a Roman Catholic Church, and National School. There is a Postal Telegraph Office at Sandymount Receiving Office.

ROUNDTOWN (NOW CALLED TERENCE—which see).

RUSH AND LUSK.

RUSH, a maritime town in Lusk parish, Balrothery east barony, Dublin county, 17 miles N. by E. from Dublin comprising an area of 172 acres. Population, 1,304, inhabiting 329 houses. It is situated on the eastern coast and was formerly noted as a fishing town. The only public buildings are the Roman Catholic Chapel and a Martello Tower on the beach. It has a Dispensary and National School, and is a Constabulary Police and Coast Guard Station. The harbour is only fit for small craft, is difficult of access, and exposed to heavy swells of the sea in north-east winds. The pier was originally built by the Duke of Ormond, in the reign of James II. About half a mile from the town is Kenure park, the seat of Sir Roger Palmer, once the residence of the great Duke of Ormond, and subsequently that of Sir Henry Echlin, bart., from whom it was purchased by an ancestor of the present proprietor. It is a handsome and spacious structure, and contains some fine paintings of the old masters, also a rare collection of vases and other interesting relics brought from Pompeii. A short distance to the left of the railway station at Rush is the village of Lusk, in the same parish and barony, comprising an area of 87 acres. It is pleasantly situated on the road from Dublin, five miles north from Swords. The new Church, erected in 1846, on the site of Lusk Abbey, is a small neat structure in the Gothic style, with a massive square tower. The Roman Catholic Church is a spacious modern edifice. It has a Constabulary Station at Lusk, and two National Schools. There is also a Postal Telegraph Office.

ST. DOLOUGH'S.

ST. DOLOUGH'S, or DOOLAGH'S, a village in the parish of Belgriffin, Coolock barony, Dublin county, six miles N.E. from the General Post Office, Dublin, comprising an area of twelve acres. It is situated on the road to Malahide. The principal object of attraction at this place is the old Church, respecting the origin of which antiquarians differ. Dr. Ledwich was of opinion that it was built by the Ostmen or Danes in the eleventh century; while others maintain that it was coeval with Cormac's Chapel on the Rock of Cashel, built before 901. It is a curious stone-roofed building, 48 feet long and 18 feet wide, and has been recently repaired and restored. Adjoining the above is the parish Church.

SANDYMOUNT (PEMBROKE TOWNSHIP).

SANDYMOUNT, a maritime village in the parish of St. Mary, Donnybrook, Dublin barony and county, 3 miles S.E. by E. from the General Post Office, Dublin, comprising an area of 243 acres. It is picturesquely situated on the S. shore of the bay of Dublin. A new Church, to which a district was assigned in 1867, has been erected, at the sole expense of the late Lord Herbert. It is in the Anglo-Norman style, with round arches and massive pillars; the stone of which was imported from Caen, in Normandy. The chancel and aisles are floored throughout with variegated encaustic tiles, and the roof arched; the whole forming a perfect model of Ecclesiastical architecture. A Presbyterian Church, in the Gothic style, has been erected; also a large Roman Catholic Church and an Industrial School, and there is a Railway Station at Sydney-parade. Along the beach, and in avenues around, there are many handsome seats, and pretty ranges of houses and detached villas. Tram cars ply from Nelson's Pillar, Sackville-street, to the Tower, Sandymount Strand, every ten minutes, and cars from and to College-street, Dublin, ply constantly every day. There is a Postal Telegraph Office at the Receiving Office, Sandymount-green.

SKERRIES.

SKERRIES, a maritime town in Holmpatrick parish, Balrothery east barony, county of Dublin, 19 miles N. by E. from Dublin, comprising an area of 81 acres; population, 1,721, inhabiting 595 houses. It is situated upon the eastern coast, close to the Great Northern line of railway, and is much resorted to as a watering place during the Summer months. Its public buildings are, the old Parish Church, with a square embattled tower crowned with pinnacles, the new Church, a handsome structure erected on the adjoining ground, and a spacious and handsome Roman Catholic Church. It has a Dispensary, Parochial and National Schools. It is a Constabulary Police and Coast Guard station. The embroidering of stockings is carried on here extensively. The harbour is well situated, and the best on this part of the coast, having excellent holding ground, and good shelter in S.W. gales. A handsome stone column has been erected to the memory of the late James Hans Hamilton, esq., M.P., late proprietor of the town, by the tenants on his estates. A life-boat has been stationed at the harbour by the National Lifeboat Institution. There is a Postal Telegraph Office at the Post Office.

STILLORGAN AND FOXROCK.

STILLORGAN, a parish and village in Rathdown barony, Dublin county, 5 miles S.E. from the General Post Office, Dublin, comprising an area of 690 acres, of which the village occupies 6. Population of parish, 1,558, of village, 562, inhabiting 111 houses. It is situated on the road to Bray. In the village there is a Dispensary, Male, Female, and Infant Schools. The Church is a neat edifice. There is a Roman Catholic church at Kilmacud, and there are three religious houses, namely, at Kilmacud manor, Stillorgan castle, and Belmont house. At the Railway Station, on the Bray Line from Dublin, are the last reservoirs for the Vartrey water supply to Dublin. In the vicinity there are numerous seats and villas. There is now a racecourse at Leopardstown, convenient to the Railway Station. There is a Postal Telegraph Office at the Post Office, Stillorgan.

FOXROCK.—The Foxrock Estate, situate partly in the parishes of Kill and Tulla, barony of Rathdown, county of Dublin, 6 miles S.E. from the General Post Office, Dublin, comprising an area of 505 statute acres, recently laid out for detached villas. It is situate on the road to Bray, and bordered on one side by the Dublin, Wicklow, and Wexford Railway, the Foxrock station of which is on the Estate. The Parish Church of Tullow, a small but handsome edifice, is built here. The locality is renowned for the salubrity of the air and magnificent marine and mountain scenery. There is a Postal Telegraph Office at Leopardstown-road.

SWORDS.

SWORDS, an inland market-town and parish (formerly an Irish parliamentary borough), partly in Coolock barony, but chiefly in that of Nethercross, Dublin county, eight miles N. from Dublin, comprising an area of 9,671 acres. Population of the parish, 1,895; of the town, 944, occupying 244 houses. The town is situated on the road to Drogheda, via Balbriggan, and on a small river that empties itself into the sea at Malahide. It is the most ancient town in the county, and had its origin in an extensive abbey founded by St. Columbkille in the beginning of the sixth century. The town consists of one wide street, about a mile in length. Its public buildings are the Parish Church, a handsome modern structure of hewn stone, in the pointed style; a neat and spacious Roman Catholic Church, with a small tower and spire. It has a Dispensary, Borough and National Schools. Quarter and Petty Sessions are held here—the former twice in the year, in December and June, and the latter every alternate Saturday. There is a Postal Telegraph Office at the Post Office.

TALLAGHT.

TALLAGHT, an inland village and parish in Uppercross barony, Dublin county, seven miles S.W. by W. from G.P.O. Dublin, comprising an area of 21,868 acres. Population of parish, 4,921; of town, 312, inhabiting 57 houses. The town is situated on the road to Blessington, and the parish extends from the village of Templeogue to Crumlin, and on its southern side to Balrothery hill on the river Dodder, to the Green hills at its western extremity. The southern portion forms the range called the Tallaght Hill, and commands magnificent views of the bay and vale of Dublin. The church, a little above the town, dedicated to St. Maelrune, is a modern building in the pointed style. At Firhouse there is a convent of Discalced Carmelites, and in the village is the Priory of the Dominican order at St. Mary's, where a beautiful Memorial Church has been erected to the memory of the Very Rev. Thomas Burke. In the town there is a Dispensary, and there are National Schools. It is a Constabulary Police station, and Petty Sessions are held every alternate Monday. There is a Postal Telegraph at the Post Office. Mr. Robert Boardman's paper mill at Boldbrook is in the vicinity. The cars of the Dublin and Blessington Steam Tramway Co. running between Terenure and Blessington, pass through Tallaght, which is a station on the line now running to Poulaphuca, a most interesting and charming line of country opened up by the enterprise of the Steam Tramway Company.
